

Mary Johnson Children's Center Director Search

Mary Johnson Children's Center, located in Middlebury, Vermont is seeking a new director to lead this well-known and highly respected non-profit agency. Founded in 1970, Mary Johnson Children's Center's 114 full and part time dedicated staff touch the lives of children and families throughout Addison County through a full array of both direct and indirect services and family support programs.

To assure its continued success and growth, the Center's new leader will possess an entrepreneurial spirit, strong communication skills, and the ability to lead the organization in team oriented and inclusive decision making. The new leader will nurture the Center's positive, engaging culture that is supportive, and both challenging and rewarding.

The successful candidate will also demonstrate a solid grasp of best practices in non-profit management with a strong understanding of early childhood, and school age care, family support and an understanding of Vermont's education and human service systems. Preference will be given to candidates with a graduate degree in human services, education, administration or a related field.

If you are an experienced professional with proven leadership abilities, this might be the next step in your career pathway. For more information including a full job description, please visit: www.mjccvt.org/employment/.
